EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Having been associated with an NGO for many years, it never occurred to me how much the receiver cringes when we dole out goodies. We also take pictures of our charitable act and publicise. We make an event of our charitable acts. My lessons in humility were far from over. I once spotted an elderly relative of mine, a rather rich woman, clad in simple rustic attire standing in queue to receive food in an annadana we had organised on the occasion of our wedding anniversary. I shouted out to her over the din: "Akka, what are you doing here, when you can feed half the Bengaluru?"

She replied, "Thamma, I thought I had renounced all, but I am now trying to kill my pride, the real demon in me."

Man arrested for stealing 360 women's raincoats

Tokyo: A Japanese man obsessed with women's raincoats has been dubbed 'Raincoat Man' after stealing a total of 360 raincoats over a period of 13 years.

A 51-year-old man was recently arrested in Osaka, Japan, after being identified as the locally-famous 'Raincoat Man', a mysterious thief who authorities had been trying to identify for over a decade. Yoshido Yoda, who worked as a newspaper delivery man, was apparently obsessed with a garment known as 'kappa', a plastic or vinyl poncho worn over one's clothes to protect them from rain. Upon searching his home, Police found a staggering number of kappas -360 in total – with the oldest ones having been stolen in 2009.

Man peeing 'almost daily' on ex-wife's grave

New Jersey: A man has apparently been holding such a grudge against the ex-wife he divorced nearly five decades ago that he goes to her grave almost every day just to relieve himself on her grave.

This shocking story was made public by 43-year-old Michael Murphy who used hidden cameras to catch the culprit after finding traces of urine and plastic bags with feces whenever he visited his mother's resting place at the cemetery at Tappan Reformed Church in Orangetown, New York.

The footage revealed an elderly man from New Jersey, visiting the grave almost every day, at around 6 in the morning and casually relieving himself on the woman's headstone. He was identified as her ex-husband, whom she had divorced 48 years ago and had not been in contact with since 1976.

After Police said that they couldn't take actions against the man, Michael said that he hoped to file a complaint for cemetery desecration.

REALLY...?

- In 700 AD, the quill pen was introduced. It was fashioned from the far left feather of living birds, such as a goose or swan. This particular feather was used, because of the way it turned away from the hand that was writing with it. To make finer lines, feathers of a crow, owl, eagle and hawk were used.
- However, there were drawbacks to using the quill. They could only last a week before they needed to be replaced and the ink took very long to dry. Also, something was needed to sharpen the quill – this was how we got the term 'penknife'. Nevertheless, the quill is used even today despite advances in writing instruments, making it a true surviving invention.

Minister S.T. Somashekar and MP Pratap Simha flagging off the vintage car rally at Hebbal this morning as Savithri Shenoy, Gopinath Shenoy, MLA L. Nagendra, City BJP President T.S. Srivatsa and others look on.

Mysuru, Oct. 1 (RK&BCT)- Vintage beauties travelled on the roads of Mysuru city after a gap of two years and people stopped their busy work, shopping spree and travel schedules to have a look as shining cars passed them. The last vintage car rally was held in 2019 and had to be invariably dropped due to COIVID-19-induced low-key Dasara in 2020 and 2021.

The rally began with a Vintage Car Show at MGS (M. Gopinath Shenoy) Vintages in Hebbal Industrial Area at National Marbles near Infosys campus. This vintage car collection owned by Gopinath Shenoy is a testament to the grace of machines from bygone eras and a roadmap of automotive evolution.

MCC launches cleanliness awareness campaign at Dasara venues

Mysuru, Oct. 1 (GA&DM)- In a bid to keep the city clean and tidy during the entire Dasara festivities, MCC has launched a public awareness campaign at all venues of Dasara events going on in city, focusing on the importance of maintaining health and hygiene.

Addressing a press meet at MCC office here on Wednesday, MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy said that the campaign was launched on Sept. 24 and will go on till Oct. 5.

Pointing out that the campaign features staging of street plays, Rangoli drawings, wall mural paintings, painting competitions for children etc., he said that the MCC staff and volunteers will visit all Dasara programme venues and distribute pamphlets.

Also, 62 garbage autos, 18 Compactors and a cleaning machine are engaged for the purpose. This apart, more than 20 mobile toilets have been stationed at necessary points," he said adding that garbage collection is going on periodically so as to ensure that there is no stockpile of wastes.

Reddy further said that street plays will be enacted at two Food Mela venues, at Kuppanna Park and near Chikkagadiyara (Dufferin Clock Tower) on Sept. 30. This apart, the public walls around Ramaswamy Circle will be painted with murals as part of the awareness campaign, he added.

Mundane illumination mars festive spirit

Sir,

It is commendable that the Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) has made sincere efforts in illuminating our city for Dasara. But the results are debatable. While the lighting is a lot more extensive than the previous years, the quality and technical artistry are conspicuously missing.

It is so monotonous that if you see one road, it looks like you have seen them all. The same hanging lights from the buildings and the same contouring chain lights around all the tree trunks.

To their credit, the chosen colour scheme (warm white) is very sober and elegant. People around me who have seen the world keep talking about the wonderful motifs and technically skilful varieties of lighting of the buildings and streets in different cities during festivities.

Secondly, the glaring omission of some of the most relevant heritage buildings as well as indifferent and inadequate illumination of some are baffling. To name a few, ignoring iconic buildings like the Maharaja's College or Attara Kacheri as well as poor illumination of Crawford Hall and Oriental Library are inexcusable and insulting.

The illuminated models of the Palace in Ramaswamy Circle and a few more in Doddakere Maidan and other spots stand out and look great. But laser images, 3D-effects and changing colour motifs which could have made the illumination a lot more spectacular are not there at all. However, the saving grace is retaining the traditional lighting of Mysore Palace, making it look as majestic and grand as ever.

Overall, it looks like a great project poorly executed due to an obvious lack of imagination, technical competence, artistic taste and coordination skill among the authorities. We can only hope that at least in the coming years the task will be entrusted to genuine professionals in the domain with independence and funds to highlight the grandeur of our beautiful city.

MYOCARDIAL INFARCTION (HEART ATTACK)

Myocardial Infarction means occlusion of one of the three major blood vessels (coronary arteries) either partial or complete, resulting in significantly decreased blood supply to muscles of the heart. Clinically present with chest pain (Angina) chest discomfort, heaviness in the chest, aggravates on exertion and relieves with rest. Occasionally, giddiness or syncopial episodes. Presentation at the early age of patients has RISK FACTORS like Diabetes Mellitus, Hypertension, Dyslipidemia, Stress etc. ECG, Echocardiography, blood tests confirm a heart attack. The ideal option is 'PRIMARY ANGIOPLASTY' (Opening of an occluded heart blood vessel) at the earliest to save the heart muscle from an irreversible damage "FIRST HOUR IS THE 'GOLDEN HOUR" because "TIME IS MUSCLE". Early intervention will save heart muscle from permanent damage (Muscle death-INFARACT). Early intervention helps in the significant reduction of complications like arrythmias, heart failure by preserving a good amount of Heart Muscle. Age is not a criterion since the change of lifestyle, high calories diet, sedentary habits, stress and lack of exercise reduces the age of VASCULOPATHY.

Kannada stars entertain Yuva Dasara crowd amidst rain

It was a night to remember for hundreds of youths who had gathered at Maharaja's College Grounds last evening for Yuva Dasara. The evening was marked by the performance of actors, their songs and punching dialogues, recreating the Kannada cinema on stage. Even the rain did not deter the audience and they stayed put, listening to their favourite numbers and dialogues.

The biggest takeaway of the evening was a laser dance by Ukrainian artistes and the Bhadrakaali Avataar by the Signature team. Music director Sadhu Kokila entertained the audience with his typical Kannada humour, dialogue delivery and songs. Actors Upendra, Prajwal Devaraj, Abhishek Ambarish, comedy actor Chikkanna, Darling Krishna, Dheeren Ramkumar, Harshika Poonacha, Nidhi Subbaiah, Krishi Thapanda, Sonu Gowda, Milana Nagaraj, Amritha Iyengar and Manwitha Harish rocked the stage while the audience howled and cheered them.

Foot Touch

As media coverage of Dasara began, an old photograph made headlines. A photograph from 2019 of Sudha Murty touching Pramoda Devi Wadiyar's feet made the news.

Many asked why Sudha Murty should touch the feet of someone from the royal family in an Independent India. Others defended Sudha Murty's gesture saying it was her choice.

In our culture, we touch the feet of people we revere, respect or of the elderly to seek their blessings. I, for one, touch the feet of kind, decent and wise older people and seek their blessings.

But one has to be very discerning about touching feet. You don't have to seek the blessings of every older person. Not all of them are worthy of that respect.

I am a Kodava, a community which, like many other communities in India, has a culture of touching the feet of their elders to seek blessings. For most youngsters in the community, Kodava weddings and gatherings are like going to the gym — a workout for the lower back and thighs as one has to keep half-squatting and bending to touch an elder's feet every few minutes. So, over the years, I have touched hundreds of feet and have noticed a 'Feet Touching Pattern.'

When one is young, one is enthusiastic about touching the elders' feet sincerely; You half-squat, bend low, and feel their feet. As you hit your late teens and 20s, you become too cool to bend all the way down to touch their feet. Instead, you bend and touch their shins.

As you hit your 30s, you start touching their knees. In your 40s, you bow while keeping your right arm extended, aimlessly pointing to the ground. In your 50s, you just "air-touch" the area around their thigh region. In your 60s, you bow and swing your arms as if you are swatting a fly off their fly region.

Finally, in your 70s, there are hardly any feet left for you to touch as most have passed. Also, by this age, you are busy getting your own feet touched.

The 'feet touching pattern' is an excellent indicator... an indicator of what? Well, the fewer feet you are touching, the closer you are getting to "The End".

I dislike elders who demand that you touch their feet. One must always command respect, not demand it.

A few years ago, a not very old man at a wedding demanded I touch his feet. I didn't. He asked again with a stern voice. I did not want to create a scene, so I did. But the man was unhappy. "Bend and touch properly, I say," he said rudely.

I was taken aback and embarrassed. All the same, I did what he asked me to. I again squatted low and touched his feet for longer than usual. As I did this, I heard him say with a tone of arrogance, "Yes, like that". He had tested my patience enough.

As I stood back up, I did so with great speed and moved my torso forward. The top of my head caught the bottom of his crotch, and he squirmed in pain. He tested my patience, and so I tested his testicles.

I saw him again a few months later at another wedding, and as I approached him slightly bent like I was going to touch his feet, he immediately recoiled with fear and extended his arms forward, signalling, "no need". Guess, that's the last time he'll "demand" respect.

Most older people always bless you with long life with health, wealth and happiness. But the best blessing I have received is from Mittoo Chengappa, the owner of Amanvana Resort in Kushalnagar. Every time I touch his feet, he puts his palm over my head and blesses me, saying, "wish you a happy life and sudden death." I like that. It's kind and pragmatic. I would love to live a happy life and exit this planet suddenly.

Then there is touching the feet of Godmen, which can be tricky.

I once witnessed a devotee trying to touch a Godman's feet. But every time this devotee was about to touch the Godman's feet, the holy man would step back. The devotee tried again. The Godman stepped back again.

The third time around, the Godman's assistant told the devotee that he must not touch the Godman. "No skin-to-skin touching", he warned. It sounded a little like what one would hear in a "naughty massage place" — skin-to-skin touching, body-to-body massage. But why no skin-to-skin touching with Godman? Well, it seems the Godman may lose his power if there is a touch from another mortal!

We also have the political feet touching which largely these days has nothing to do with respect but loyalty and appeasement. A party worker diving to the feet of his patron turns this gesture of respect into servility and sycophancy.

Now, there are some rules for people who get their feet touched. Basic one — keep your feet close together when someone approaches you to touch them. But many don't do this.

Some people remain seated cross-legged as you try to touch their feet. For such people, I cross my arms and touch their feet. Then there are ones who keep shaking their legs as you try to touch their feet. For such people, I, too, sway my arms vigorously close to their feet.

Then you have men who are seated and "manspreading"— keeping their legs spread wide open like they are breathing through their crotch. For such people, I spread my arms like a cricket umpire giving a "wide ball" decision as I bend to touch. Over the years, my family has made it their form of entertainment to see what all types of feet touching I will execute at events.

After all this touching, I suddenly notice many are touching my feet now. A sign that I'm getting older. For me, the indicator that one's 'second half of life' has begun is when the number of people touching your feet is more than the number of feet you are touching.

Let's hope that as we all get older, we don't become grumpy old men as youngsters come to seek blessings. Let us close our feet, accept their respect with graciousness, lest you test their youthful patience, and they test the youthfulness of your testicles with a head butt. So be respectful of people who respect you.

42 PFI offices sealed across Karnataka: Araga Jnanendra

Home Minister opens DAR Administrative Office and Arms Depot at Jyothinagar

Mysuru, Oct. 1 (GA&BCT)- Home Minister Araga Jnanendra said that 42 offices belonging to the banned Popular Front of India (PFI) have been sealed by Police and allied authorities across the State including the office in Mysuru.

"We sealed 42 offices of the PFI across the State and bank accounts have been frozen and the Enforcement Directorate will step in to examine financial transactions. The Government has details on individuals linked with the banned organisations and we are keeping an eye on them," he said.

The Home Minister was speaking to reporters after he inaugurated the District Armed Reserve Administrative Office and Arms Depot at Jyothinagar in the city last evening. The construction has been undertaken at a cost of Rs. 1.95 crore.

An office for the DySP has been created inside the building and there are four radio communication rooms, computer and wireless rooms that will enable the Police to catch the criminals using technology.

Jnanendra further stated that PFI was one of the religious fundamentalist forces which indulged in pitting the youths of the country against the nation. The move to ban PFI is good in the view of maintaining the integrity and unity of the country. This is also a step which was necessary to maintain peace and harmony in the country, the Home Minister stated.

"We have given directions to the Police to take up strict vigilance against any forces disturbing peace. It has also been directed to take those who try to disturb peace into custody. The Central Government has also issued warnings to take preventive measures in this regard," the Home Minister added.

Outlining the facilities that are being provided to Police personnel for them to discharge their duties efficiently, he said that over 117 Police Stations are being constructed across the State and over 11,000 Police quarters are being constructed under the 'Housing 2025 Project' with an estimated cost of Rs. 200 crore.

Re-investigation of Tanveer Sait case: When reporters asked the Home Minister about the request made by Narasimharaja MLA Tanveer Sait to re-investigate the brutal knife attack on him, Araga Jnanendra said, "The attack on Tanveer Sait was unfortunate and it took place on a person who has been in the public life for decades. He has discussed the re-investigation of the case with me and also told me that he will hire a lawyer at his own expense for the case trial. I have consented to this."

Mysuru District Minister S.T. Somashekar, MLA Tanveer Sait, Deputy Commissioner Dr. Bagadi Gautham, Southern Range IGP Praveen Madhukar Pawar, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta, DCPs Pradeep Gunti (Law and Order) and M.S. Foodies patronise Dasara Food Festival in droves

Mysuru, Oct. 1 (MTY&BCT)- This year's Dasara Food Festival — Aahara Mela — is an exciting and lip-smacking culinary journey for food lovers who are crowding the venues in droves. Starting from about 11 am till 11 pm, people are hogging the delicacies that are on a platter.

At the Scouts and Guides Grounds behind the DC Office, over 113 stalls have been set up and over 70 stalls have been set up at MUDA Grounds near the Lalitha Mahal Palace.

Gastronomic delights have been introduced for foodies and as in the previous years, the highlight of this year's Mela is the tribal food like Bamboo Biriyani, Bamboo Rice Kheera and also crab delicacies.

Tribals from different hamlets in Hunsur, H.D. Kote and Periyapatna served delicious food items to the visitors at their 'Aadivasi Mane' where a village environment has been created with thatched roof, wheels, haystack and lanterns.

Bamboo Biriyani, cooked with bamboo stems, and tea made of 'makali beru', a variety of tubers grown in the forests, dishes made of green leaves, and food items prepared using bamboo shoots were among major attractions.

This year, the Bamboo Biriyani is being made with country chicken and mutton. Though it takes over 45 minutes for the Biriyani to cook, the foodies wait patiently for their turn to savour them. The prices too are reasonable and it is worth the wait for most food lovers. In fact, the aroma of spices from stalls selling non-veg dishes is attracting a large number of people.

Other cuisines include organic food, Mysore cuisine, food from Kodagu, coastal and Malnad region, north Karnataka, Kerala, Andhra, and North Indian cuisines. A variety of delicious food items from Mandya, Bagalkot, Belagavi, Vijayapura, Dharwad, Chikkamagalur and coastal Karnataka are also being served.

According to officials from Food and Civil Supplies Department, more than 40,000 people visited the Mela on average every day, with the numbers likely to cross 80,000 this weekend.

The evening crowd start their food journey at around 6 pm and many of them were spotted eating Biriyani as early as 6.30 pm.

Along with an assortment of delicacies offered in many non-vegetarian stalls, equally in demand are vegetarian spread. Melukote puliyogare, curd rice, sweet and khara pongal, mushroom biryani, Davanagere benne dose, akki roti, channa batura, masala dosas, chat items are in great demand.

Hot holige, Bhojpuri chat, pav bhaji, channa batura, Kolhapuri chat, Bagalkot jolada rotti, yennegai, Bangarpet pani-puri, Dharwad peda, chibbalu idli, North Karnataka girmit, mirchi-mandakki, pizzas, burgers and french fries too are savoured by the crowd all day and night. There is a spread of fruit delicacies including masalas, juices, ice-creams and salads.

One Biriyani, several names and flavours

The stalls have been divided into vegetarian and non-vegetarian sections. While the veg sections start dishing out food at 11 am daily, non-veg dishes are served at 12 noon. Interestingly, the Biriyani dish dominates the Aahara Mela this time and it is called under different names to attract the crowds.

Some of the names that are attracting the crowds are Appu Dum Biriyani to attract fans of Puneeth Rajkumar, Bannur Gowda Naati Mess, Gowda Mess, Madike Biriyani, Hosakote Dum Biriyani, Jonne Biriyani, Mandya Naati Style Chicken Biriyani, Gundu Pulav, Mysore Special Naati Biriyani, Desi Madike Biriyani, Madike Biriyani and Kaalu Soup, Gowdara Biriyani, Dambus Biriyani, Hyderabadi Dum Biriyani, Bikers Chicken Barbeque, Crunchy Punch, Donne Biriyani, Donne Pulav, Jumboo Savari Aramane Biriyani, Matka Biriyani, Mysuru M.E.
